Born in the vibrant city of Cádiz, nestled in the south of Spain, I pursued my academic journey by delving into Hispanic Studies and English Philology. Over the course of more than two decades, I have dedicated myself to teaching Spanish GCSE and A-Level in London. Holding the necessary qualifications to instruct both English and foreign students in the Spanish language, I bring a wealth of experience and expertise to my role.

As a bilingual individual with a solid academic background and completion of the CELTA course, I am exceptionally well-equipped to impart Spanish language skills to learners. My passion for Spanish language and literature knows no bounds, driving me to engage with students of all ages with enthusiasm and dedication. Interacting with diverse individuals fuels my teaching approach, enabling me to foster a dynamic and enriching learning environment.

PLACES YOU WILL BE VISITING

Blending learning with culture

Our SHIP will take you on a journey to discover...

Cádiz province

Cádiz province has some of Andalucía's most windswept beaches, prettiest white villages, and the most celebrated Spanish wine: Sherry.

Its coastline has long been peppered with fishing ports that were established by the Phoenicians, Greeks, and Romans.

Today, the Cádiz coast is a mecca for windsurfers, birdwatchers, and anyone who prefers a wilder shoreline with relatively few beachgoers, compared to the busier Costa del Sol. The region's rich history and natural beauty make it a unique destination for travelers seeking both adventure and tranquility.

Cádiz city

The “Tacita del Plata” is considered the oldest city in the Western World. It was founded (in 1100 B.C.) by the Phoenicians, a seafaring people who turned Gadir into an important trading colony where the Carthaginians, the Romans, the Visigoths and the Muslims would all subsequently settle. An open, cosmopolitan city, its port was chosen by Columbus as the point of departure for his second voyage to the New World.

The city would then become, after the decline of Seville, the port to The Indies, drawing the flow of trade with the American Continent. This frantic commercial activity then brought about an era of economic, cultural splendour, when Baroque palaces with their characteristic towers offering amazing views were built.

PLACES YOU WILL BE VISITING

Blending learning with culture

Our SHIP will take you on a journey to discover...

Puerto Real

Founded in 1483 by the Catholic Monarchs, this town boasts Prehistoric remains in El Retamar, El Gallinero, and Villanueva. Surrounded by marshlands and pine forests, its old quarter, declared a Historic Ensemble, features a well-preserved urban layout with straight streets and typical houses.

Notable landmarks include the Renaissance and Baroque Iglesia Mayor Prioral de San Sebastián Church, the Convent Church of La Victoria, and Jesús, María y José Church (locally known as San José's Church), all dating back to the 18th century.

This industrial town with its university has a busy cultural life with its numerous cultural centres and two theatres, the Teatro Principal and the Teatro de Verano. It is also famous for its excellent cuisine which is based primarily on its estuary fish and seafood.

The calendar of festivals in Puerto Real centres on the Carnival groups and the Holy Week brotherhoods. Besides the carnival, which are of great prestige and are highly popular, there is also the fair.

PLACES YOU WILL BE VISITING

Blending learning with culture

Our SHIP will take you on a journey to discover...

Jerez de la Frontera

There are few places in Spain which can lay claim to international recognition enjoyed by Jerez. Thanks to its wine, “jerez” or “sherry”, the equestrian tradition, the bulls, flamenco and motor-racing, this Andalusian town’s name has been known far and wide for many years.

the most important Al-Andalus feature is the Alcázar de Jerez, which is situated within the walled enclosure of the Mosque, the Arab Baths and the Olive Garden, with its cisterns and fountains which are in perfect harmony with the Baroque palace of Villavicencio, built upon the ruins of the original Islamic palace, with a tower where the visitor can find the original Camera Obscura.

Vejer de la Frontera

Vejer de la Frontera, located in the region of La Janda, has two distinct areas: the coast and the interior. The Barbate River runs through it, forming marshlands declared a Natural Park, a remnant of an important wetland area in Europe.

The town, an old Christian stronghold during the Nasrid era, is situated on a hill with a magnificent view. Notable features include its narrow, winding streets with white houses, the Walls, the Church of the Divine Savior, and the Arch of the Jewish Quarter.
